Please find below and/or attached an Office communication concerning this application or proceeding.

The time period for reply, if any, is set in the attached communication.

Office Action Summary	Application No. 10/031,263	Applicant(s) MONSTER, ROBERT W.
	Examiner Jakieda R. Jackson	Art Unit 2626

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In response to the Office Action mailed August 21, 2006, applicant submitted an amendment filed on February 16, 2007, in which the applicant amended and requested reconsideration with respect to claim 1.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant argues that the claims as amended overcome the Berstis reference. Applicant's arguments are persuasive but are moot in view of new grounds of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 2-11 and 13-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chong et al. (USPN 5,535,120), hereinafter referenced as Chong.

Regarding claims 2 and 13, Chong discloses a method and apparatus comprising:

Art Unit: 2626

determining, as part of an electronic mail generation system, a preferred language of an electronic mail recipient (e-mail capability; column 8, lines 29-48 with column 13, lines 49-66 and column 19, lines 14-65);

writing header information to an electronic mail message based on the preferred language (format; column 6, lines 56 – column 7, line 3 with column 13, lines 49-6); writing a body to the electronic mail message (format; column 6, lines 56 – column 7, line 3); and sending the electronic mail message to the electronic mail recipient (transmit the translated text to recipient; column 6, lines 56 – column 7, line 3 and column 19, lines 14-65).

Regarding claims 3 and 14, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the preferred language is determined by querying a database of the system (searching; column 13, lines 49-66).

Regarding claims 4 and 15, Chong discloses a method and apparatus where the header information comprises character coding information based on the preferred language (character code; column 20, lines 35-49).

Regarding claims 5 and 16, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the character coding information comprises one or more of MIME-Version header field, a content type header field, a content transfer encoding field and a character set parameter of the content type header field (header; column 7, lines 32-62 and column 20, lines 35-49).

Regarding claims 6 and 17, Chong teaches all of the limitations as claimed in claims 2 and 13. In addition, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the electronic mail generation system is part of a research system (market reports; column 10, lines 60-67).

Regarding claims 7 and 18, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the electronic mail message is generated automatically in response to an event of the survey system (market reports; column 10, lines 60-67).

Regarding claims 8 and 19, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the recipient is expressed in a manner dependent on the preferred language (column 19, lines 14-65).

Regarding claims 9 and 20, Chong discloses a method and apparatus further comprising sending the electronic mail message to the recipient expressed in the language manner (transmit formatted text; column 19, lines 14-65).

Regarding claims 10 and 21, Chong discloses a method and apparatus further comprising determining a culturally appropriate salutation for the recipient based on the preferred language (sex indicative titles; column 11, lines 7-20 with column 13, lines 35-48).

Regarding claims 11 and 22, Chong discloses a method and apparatus further comprising:

constructing the culturally appropriate salutation based on the recipient's name and the preferred language (sex indicative titles; column 11, lines 7-20 with column 13, lines 35-48); and writing to a body of the electronic mail message the culturally appropriate salutation (sex indicative titles; column 11, lines 7-20 with column 13, lines 35-48).

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 2-5 and 13-16 are alternately rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Homan et al. (USPN 6,233,317), hereinafter referenced as Homan.

Regarding claims 2 and 13, Chong discloses a method and apparatus comprising:

determining, as part of an electronic mail generation system, a preferred language of an electronic mail recipient (indication in which subscriber prefers to receive; column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24);

writing header information to an electronic mail message based on the preferred language (composing electronic mail message; column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24);

writing a body to the electronic mail message (composing electronic mail message; column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24); and sending the electronic mail message to the electronic mail recipient (email_send; column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24).

Regarding claims 3 and 14, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the preferred language is determined by querying a database of the system (prefers; column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24).

Regarding claims 4 and 15, Chong discloses a method and apparatus where the header information comprises character coding information based on the preferred language (character code; column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24).

Regarding claims 5 and 16, Chong discloses a method and apparatus wherein the character coding information comprises one or more of MIME-Version header field, a content type header field, a content transfer encoding field and a character set parameter of the content type header field (column 5, line 2 – column 6, line 24 with column 7, lines 51-67).

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Evans (PGPUB 203/0200505) discloses a method and apparatus for overlaying a source text on an output text.
- Flanagan et al. (USPN 5,966,685) disclose a system for parallel foreign language communication over a computer network.
- Scanlan (PGPUB 2005/0246156) discloses a communication processing system.
